

People and Perspectives | Architecture as Art: Empowering People and Places Through Design

surroundpodcasts.com/episodes/people-and-perspectives-architecture-as-art-empowering-people-and-places-through-design

Can architecture empower people and places? In this episode, UpSpring's Caroline Saba chats with Jared Bradley, President and Founder of The Bradley Projects, where he shares his perspective on what it means to be an architect and how the role of the architect has changed over time. Listen in as we discuss the importance of placemaking through design and the power architecture has to transform how we feel in a space.

The Design Board, by UpSpring, is a proud member of SANDOW Design Group's SURROUND Podcast Network, home to the architecture and design industry's premier shows.